Foreword

In this, our 1964 North Comet, we have tried to present to you a view of our campus life in all its many phases. Using candles as our theme, we have tried to store in the hearts and minds of our students the importance, the enjoyment, and the rewards of an ever-growing education. Students, you are the "Comets," the ones that make our campus come alive. But why stop with this? Let us all strive to make our education come alive and to glow as brightly as the comets themselves.

Since the enjoyment of our yearbook increases each year because of the memories reflected in it and because we realize that you, the students, are such a great part of it, we would like to thank all of you for playing a part and for making our North Comet stand high and proud among all our cherished possessions and in our hearts.

Dedication

We, the graduating class of 1964, dedicate The North Comet to you with our greatest respect and admiration.

You have given your time and patience to guide and lead us during our years in high school. With your interest and understanding, you have encouraged us to do our best in whatever we have attempted.

Therefore, we, the Seniors of North Stanly High School, with deep affection, sincerely dedicate our annual to you . . .

Ticket Booth

The New London Lions Club receives our thanks for the attractive ticket booth, which we hope will be as crowded in the coming years as it was this football season.

Scoreboard

We would like to thank the Badin Lions Club for our very efficient scoreboard, which enabled the fans to keep up with the score, the time, the quarter, the down, and the yards to go.

The candle of learning has just been lit. As Freshmen, we begin our journey down the road of knowledge with this candle to light our path. It serves as a symbol of what we are working to accomplish . . . whether scholastic, physical, or moral. So as this candle begins burning, it sheds its light on our increasing knowledge and abilities.

The candle of learning has burned until it has become very short. We have now reached some of our goals, but we have many more to attain. During our three years of high school education, we have learned the value of responsibilities and planning. As we look with eagerness toward our Senior year, we are striving to keep our candle's flame not only alive, but glowing brightly.

As our high school education draws closer to the climax, the candle of knowledge burns lower . . . lower . . . lower. When we began our high school journey to learning, the candle was tall, and the flame burned brightly. Now the candle is low, but the flame continues to glow, shedding its light on the books of learning.

We realize that "success awaits at labor's gates"; therefore, throughout our entire lifetime, we must continue to light other candles of learning so that there will never be an end to our road to knowledge.

HURRAH! IT'S READY FOR THE PRESS!

After our many hours of long, hard work (note the clock), we are now able to present to you our finished product, The North Comet. We hope you will enjoy your annual as much as we enjoyed working together toward our goal--the publication of our yearbook.

We would like to thank everyone who helped us make our dream become a reality. We would also like to thank our sponsor, Mrs. Otis Chrisco, for her many hours of hard work, her advice, and her enduring patience with us.

THE NORTH STANLY ANNUAL STAFF

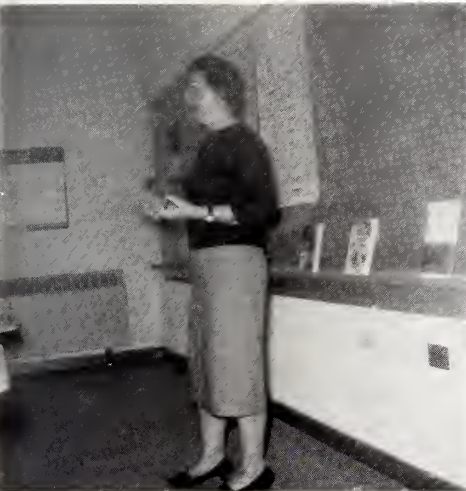

"I just love Monday mornings, don't you?"

Here we go on that cold trek to "B" Building.

"Open this door so I can get the 'pop' test on the board."

"Let me point out . . ."

"Everybody sing!"

"Oh! Don't pay any attention to what Mr. Dulin says."

"Get my uke and I'll be ready to sing."

Stars of "Comet Review."

"Now we will learn to type HEARNE instead of WATSON."

Miss Kines - an excellent future teacher.

The Wife of Bath sings while Little Lord Fauntleroy pledges his love.

"All right class, who stole the nitroglycerin?"

"Go, Johnny, go - you, too, Diane."

Students enjoying themselves at a Student Council dance.

Dig that dreamy look.

"Let me have it, Doctor Lapsley, I feel tetanus coming on!"

Mr. Garland Gentry shooting North's student.

Final touches for homecoming.

"We are the North Stanly Comets are we . . ."

And the Carolina moon was shinning on the Comets.

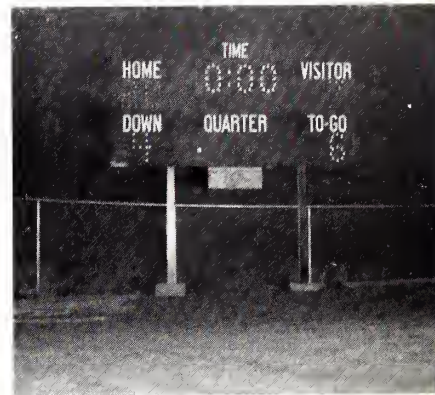

"Hi, Captain."

The coaches' coaches: Mrs. Kelly, Mrs. Caudle, and Mrs. Hollingsworth.

"All right, gang, who has the ball?"

"Look at that scoreboard and see who is winning."

Getting ready for the pep rally.

The proud mothers on "Parents Night."

"Now boys, do you think four against one is fair?" pleads Terry.

The fathers cheer their sons on to victory.

"You boys go on and play, I'm going to the concession stand."

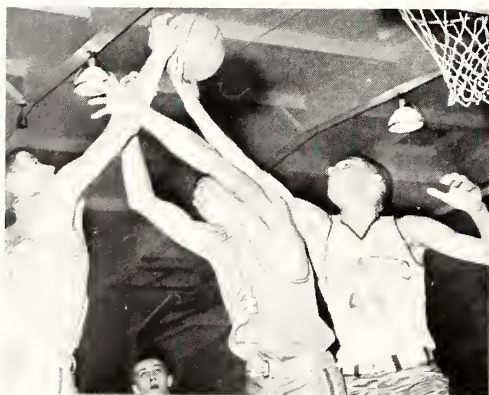

Miss Merry Christmas dressed for the parade.

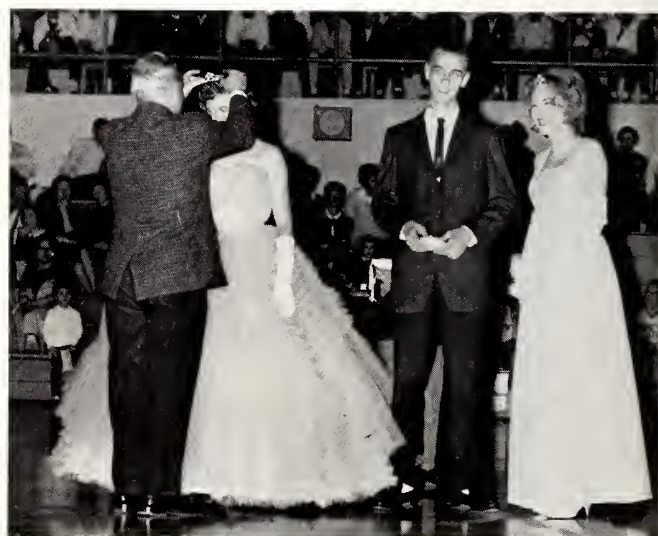

Marshals of 1962-63.

We cherish the memory of "Comet."

Hendrix takes a breather while Morgan fights for the rebound.

Mr. Jeffrey and Linda Hardister honor Mr. and Miss North Stanly.

Too late now, "Big O."

Through these portals pass the mightiest Seniors, the flightiest Juniors, the sassiest Sophomores, and the silliest Freshmen.

Keep your eyes on the ball!

Autographs

David,

It has been nice knowing you these past two years at U.S.F.S.

I'm wishing you
the best of luck in the future.

Stay as nice as you are now & you will go far in life.

Your friend,
Mickie C.

David,

Although I have known you almost all my life I think you are a very nice person. I have enjoyed being in your study hall this year.
I wish you all the best of luck in the future.

A friend always,
Jayer

David,

Although I was only in four of your classes this year, we were together enough to hate each other. Maybe next year we will be in fewer classes together and will like each other more.

Your friend, pal,
comrade, companion,
and worst enemy,

Tommy J.

David,

I'm only going to write a few lines but I can tell you in just a few words what a great guy
I think you are. Stay just as sweet and thoughtful as you are now
and you will succeed
in everything you do.
Best wishes to a great friend.

a friend always,
Robbie

David
 Woods can't say how much I've enjoyed your company this year.
 I really do think it's gone
 the way you have been so nice and thoughtful toward me, the dates I've had with you this year; all of them were fun. I hope I'll see you just as much next year although I'll be going to A.S. H.S.. David you really are the nicest boy I know.

Autographs

Good luck, with love,
 to a very sweet boy,
 Lorraine

David,

This is your great best friend wishing you the worst of luck in the future. (Not really). I think you are very nice and I wish you the best of luck in the future.

your friend
 Lorraine M.

David,
 I've enjoyed being in the same study hall with you Cl. Thanks you're a real nice guy.
 Good luck
 Dennis

David,
I have enjoyed trying to be in your Study Hall. But the way your the one who is always doing all the talking.
you & Tommy & Jimmie & Steve & that darn ole Richard. I'll never forget the time you & a bunch of those ole crazy guys almost convinced me it was Wednesday when it was Tuesday at the time. (I carry a calendar in my pocketbook now, along with a lot of other junk as you call it). I'll never forget some of the dumb-times I've had in Study Hall this year.
But the way if you know anybody who wants any Easter Eggs you know where to send them (raw or boiled) well here's wishing you a lot of good luck in the future.
Just innocent
Stirley
